

Portable Surveillance

A portable surveillance system empowers law enforcement and military units to identify security threats. A portable video surveillance system is a movable set of observational equipment and should be intuitive, efficient and versatile in any environment. Portable surveillance allows police officers the ability to observe suspects from a remote location. Border agents can monitor a crossing site in the dark and Military units can track danger from a secure location. AVP Security delivers the essential elements with reliable precision and savvy technology.

Speedy Setup, Easy Use. AVP's portable surveillance system is constructed with a Plug-N-Play design; deploy the portable security cameras in moments. The touch-screen allows the operator to view all devices, amplify a perspective and manipulate the cameras. This versatile portable surveillance system provides stable operation with no special skills required for the operator to use the system. Our portable surveillance system is shielded by rugged case with a unique ventilation design, allowing a locked system to survey and record activities in the absence of operator supervision.

Real-Time Portable Surveillance with advanced remote monitoring. The portable security system supports dual high-resolution monitors for separate LIVE and Playback viewing. The portable surveillance system boasts 8 to 16 cameras. Multiple built-in communications allow integration for many different client preferred radios or wireless technologies. Our portable security system comes with web viewer access, client software, CMS and cell phone viewer. Our portable security system has smart power technology that automatically detects the input power, charges batteries and seamlessly switches between sources. The internal battery can be used as primary power, and will automatically charge when electric power is connected. The portable system can operate on 115/230 Vac, external 12-30Vdc batteries or vehicle power - allowing operation across many environments.
